someone was shooting. 04 stated that she could hear screaming coming from the intercom, which was transmitting noise but no message.

of stated that she locked her classroom doors and got all the students by the sink and covered the windows with paper. Of stated that the entire time she could hear the shots still going off elsewhere in the building, and then directed the students to all get into her office. Once in her office, Of stated that she locked the door and covered the windows and then used her cell phone to call 911 at 9:39 a.m. Of stated that she could not get an answer on 911, and then called her husband via cell phone and told him that she thought there was a shooter in the building and that she and her students were locked in the 104 and to let the police know where they were, which he did.

04 stated that she reassured the students that they were safe and that her husband had already spoken to the police and that they knew where they were. 04 stated that the shooting had stopped by this time, and that they all stayed and waited for about a half hour until they heard voices outside and heard the door to the 104 shaking. 04 stated that she opened the door of her office and saw that it was the police. 04 stated that she told them she had 22 students and they directed the students to close their eyes and hold hands while they were escorted out the building and then down to the firehouse.

was asked if she had observed anything or any persons that seemed suspicious in or around the building and stated she had not. 04 stated that she was unaware of any specific disturbances or angry parents or family members at the school and stated that she was not, but that in general, morale at the school was low, and that there were many disgruntled faculty and staff that had been let go recently, in addition to those in the building who were stressed financially or personally and had other personal issues, such as one teacher she knew of who was in the middle of a messy divorce right now.
